ATE MUCH BEEF.

During the State Fair three restaurants alone used over 2,500 pounds of beef, so when the fact is taken into consideration that the hotels, hundreds of boarding-houses and lunch counters were crowded for four days, the amount of food consumed by visitors to the fair assumes enormous proportions. One fashionable restaurant used four hundred and fifty dozen eggs.

During the final drawings at the Masonic Fair last night two fine buggles, imong the most valuable articles raffled from the fair, were drawn by Mr. John C. Drawry, Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Masons.
